Drs. Erik Staffeleu

Head of People & Organization Capgemini Invent Netherlands

Drs. Erik Staffeleu is head of People & Organization Capgemini Invent Netherlands. He believes the future belongs to businesses that are agile inside out behaving as living entities capable of reinventing themselves. This transition relies not only on technology, process, and data evolution, but also on the people behind it.

For the last 15 years Erik Staffeleu helped organizations, especially in the public sector, to become future-ready in the digital age from the inside-out.

Focusing on different stakeholder groups, from leadership, over employee to customer, as well as a conducive organizational setup and culture – enabled by a new approach to change management.

Erik Staffeleu studied Business Administration and Law at Erasmus University Rotterdam.
